

We are pleased to inform you that ITA Airways has taken a further step in its integration into the Lufthansa Group by announcing its entry into the Europe–Japan Joint Venture alongside the Lufthansa Group and All Nippon Airways (ANA), with operations scheduled to commence in autumn 2026.

With this expansion, ITA Airways joins the leading joint venture between Europe and Japan, significantly broadening cooperation between the partners.

The agreement includes:

- the entire ITA Airways network (domestic, Europe and North Africa)
- the Rome Fiumicino – Tokyo Haneda route

Thanks to this integration, your customers can look forward to a smoother and more comprehensive travel experience, specifically:

- access to partner lounges in Rome and Tokyo
- mutual recognition of tickets
- progressive integration of loyalty programmes
- extended connections: via Rome to Europe and the Mediterranean, via Tokyo on ANA's domestic network

The combined network currently offers around 160 weekly long-haul flights between Europe and Japan, a figure set to increase with the addition of ITA Airways.

We will keep you updated on developments and operational news.
